

Case Management built for Government

Orchestrating complex case flows, with citizens at the centre

The Challenge:

Government agencies are managing increasingly complex, compliance-driven processes across fragmented systems. Manual processes, limited visibility, and legacy platforms make it difficult to meet rising expectations for digital services and transparency.

Reduce operational costs by

The Solution: NEC AnyCase

NEC AnyCase is a configurable Case Management as a Service (CMaaS) platform designed for government and regulated environments. It orchestrates complex, multi-stakeholder case flows, enabling organisations to digitise case intake, automate processes, and manage end-to-end operations through a secure solution that supports a more people-centric approach to delivering citizen-focused services. Built for Australian government environments, AnyCase combines low-code flexibility with enterprise-grade security, enabling agencies to respond quickly to legislative change and operational complexity.

Proven Capabilities

- Faster time to value with low-code configuration
- Built for compliance with auditability, security and trust by design
- Citizen-focused services with digital portals and real-time updates
- Integrated by design with API-driven connectivity
- Human-centred design grounded in real-world processes
- Configurable platform that adapts to policy and legislative change

Business Outcomes

Complaints & Investigations

Consistent intake, automated triage, and full audit trails

Licensing & Permits

Digital applications, automated assessments, and integrated processes

Compliance & Incident Management

Multi-channel capture with structured enforcement and reporting
