About

Kazuhiro Murakami is NEC Australia's Director, Corporate Strategy, and is also a member of its Board of Directors.

Corporate Strategy provides an important link to the Global NEC organisation and the strong ties to headquarters in Japan and the APAC region. Murakami-san is responsible for Australia's alignment with the company's overall direction, specifically in important areas such as external relations, compliance and risk management. And he is a key member of the team charged with bringing solutions, particularly from NEC Japan and APAC, to the Australian market.

A long-term, regional NEC executive, Murakami-san's most recent assignment has been as the Chief Representative, Yangon Branch in Myanmar (Burma). Previously he worked in the NEC Global Business Unit in Tokyo where he gained experience and insights into the APAC and Australian operations.
